*Dividend adjustments are applied (credited or debited) to CFD positions you hold open in an Equity that announces a dividend. ThinkMarkets will register dividend adjustments on the Ex-dividend date before the exchange where the equity is traded opens. For dividend payments in long positions a brokerage adjustment of 15% is applied.

We will display the adjustment as a separate journal entry (deposit or withdrawal) in the client's trading account. If the overall dividend amount for a distinct equity position is less than 0.5 cents, we will round the dividend to 0.

View the following document here for information on corporate actions that may influence share prices.

ThinkMarkets will register dividend adjustments on the Ex-dividend date before the exchange where the equity is traded opens. For dividend payments in long positions a brokerage adjustment of 15% is applied.

We will display the adjustment as a separate journal entry (deposit or withdrawal) in the client's trading account. If the overall dividend amount for a distinct equity position is less than 0.5 cents, we will round the dividend to 0.

View the following document here for information on corporate actions that may influence share prices.

To account for positions held over the weekend, 3-Day swaps are applied at market close on Friday.

*Dividend adjustments are applied (credited or debited) to CFD positions you hold open in an Equity that announces a dividend. ThinkMarkets will register dividend adjustments on the Ex-dividend date before the exchange where the equity is traded opens. For dividend payments in long positions a brokerage adjustment of 15% is applied.

We will display the adjustment as a separate journal entry (deposit or withdrawal) in the client's trading account. If the overall dividend amount for a distinct equity position is less than 0.5 cents, we will round the dividend to 0.

View the following document here for information on corporate actions that may influence share prices.

To account for positions held over the weekend, 3-Day swaps are applied at market close on Friday.

*Dividend adjustments are applied (credited or debited) to CFD positions you hold open in an Equity that announces a dividend. ThinkMarkets will register dividend adjustments on the Ex-dividend date before the exchange where the equity is traded opens. For dividend payments in long positions a brokerage adjustment of 15% is applied.

We will display the adjustment as a separate journal entry (deposit or withdrawal) in the client's trading account. If the overall dividend amount for a distinct equity position is less than 0.5 cents, we will round the dividend to 0.

View the following document here for information on corporate actions that may influence share prices.

To account for positions held over the weekend, 3-Day swaps are applied at market close on Friday.

*Dividend adjustments are applied (credited or debited) to CFD positions you hold open in an Equity that announces a dividend. ThinkMarkets will register dividend adjustments on the Ex-dividend date before the exchange where the equity is traded opens. For dividend payments in long positions a brokerage adjustment of 15% is applied.

We will display the adjustment as a separate journal entry (deposit or withdrawal) in the client's trading account. If the overall dividend amount for a distinct equity position is less than 0.5 cents, we will round the dividend to 0.

View the following document here for information on corporate actions that may influence share prices.

To account for positions held over the weekend, 3-Day swaps are applied at market close on Friday.
